DETAILED ACTION

This office action is in response to the preliminary amendment filed January 20, 2004.

Information Disclosure Statement

The IDS filed on August 20, 2003 contains a PTO-892 form from a parent application and PTO forms from the parent applications which have already been initialed and signed by an Examiner. Therefore, these papers cannot be resigned by another Examiner. The PTO-892 form is not a proper IDS format. In the interest of compact prosecution, the US references listed in Applicant's IDS are being listed in the attached PTO-892 and they have been considered. All references from Applicant's parent cases have been reviewed and considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shima et al. (US 4,946,802) in view of Bridges et al. (US 4,764,246).

Regarding claims 1 and 2, Shima discloses forming a plurality of optical semiconductor elements on a semiconductor substrate (1), forming a dummy portion (9) in a center of a square at four corners of which the optical semiconductor elements are arranged and forming a buried layer by epitaxy so as to bury a portion between the optical semiconductor elements and the dummy portion. Shima discloses using liquid phase epitaxy to form the buried layer. Like

Art Unit: 2822

Shima, Bridges discloses a process for forming an optical semiconductor element. Bridges teaches that the either the liquid or halide (containing chlorine) vapor phase epitaxy process may be used to form the layers of the element because they are process equivalents for accomplishing the same purpose. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to substitute the halide vapor phase epitaxy for the liquid phase epitaxy of Shima because the processes are art recognized equivalents for accomplishing the same purpose.
